History & Mission: In 1973, the Health Services Administration and Health Resources Administration were established. In 1982, HRSA was created by merging these two organizations.

HRSA is the primary federal agency for improving access to health care services for people who are uninsured, isolated or medically vulnerable. HRSA provides national leadership, program resources and services needed to improve access to culturally competent, quality health care.

HRSA's health center program supports medical, oral and behavioral health services to uninsured and underinsured individuals through a nationwide network of community-based clinics and mobile medical vans. By bringing comprehensive primary and preventive health care services to inner-city and rural communities that otherwise would be without them, health centers improve the health of their communities and relieve pressure on overburdened hospital emergency rooms. The agency also recruits doctors, nurses, dentists and others to work in areas with too few health care professionals.
